Getting to Know Menzies Aviation's Mildred S. Sigaoat

In this month's edition of "Getting to Know," we meet Mildred S. Sigaoat, General Manager of Menzies Aviation Guam. Sigaoat began her career over three decades ago with Lockheed Air Terminal and has taken opportunities to grow through various operational and leadership roles within the company as it transitioned to AGI, ASIG, and most recently, Menzies Aviation. In 1993, she worked as a passenger service agent for Northwest Airlines and three years later, she was transferred to the administration department as an accounting technician. She expanded her skillset by transferring to the human resources (HR) and payroll offices in 2002. A year later, she was promoted to HR supervisor under the guidance of the late Mr. David Tuncap who, according to Sigaoat, was "the most inspiring boss" with whom she has ever worked. In 2006, Sigaoat was promoted to HR Manager. She earned a Bachelor's Degree in Accounting and a minor in HR Management from the University of Guam in 2010. That degree served useful as she became the company's Accounting Manager in 2018. In 2025, she was promoted to her current position as General Manager.

For Sigaoat, "aviation is a fast-paced industry that requires teamwork, adaptability, and a strong commitment to safety, and those values have shaped my professional journey." According to Sigaoat, Menzies Aviation is a global aviation service provider supporting airlines and airport operations around the world. In Guam, her team provides a wide range of services including passenger services, ramp handling, cargo operations, cabin cleaning and security, fueling services, and ground support equipment maintenance. The company's operations support both passenger and cargo airlines while maintaining a strong focus on safety, reliability, and operational excellence. These operations are supported by over 270 employees as the ground handling provider for Air Seoul, FedEx, Japan Airlines, Jin Air, Korean Air, T'Way Air (Trinity Airways) and UPS.

As General Manager, she oversees the overall day-to-day operations, and her responsibilities include ensuring safe and efficient operations, supporting her employees, maintaining strong relationships with airline partners and airport stakeholders, and driving continuous improvement throughout the organization. A large part of her role is also focused on leadership development, operational planning, and ensuring her teams have the resources and support needed to succeed. She aims to continue developing Guam's local workforce and creating opportunities for growth within the aviation industry and looks forward to helping modernize the company's operations through innovation, technology, and sustainability initiatives, with Menzies Aviation leading the transition toward electric ground support equipment.

Outside of work, Sigaoat enjoys spending time with her family and friends. Married for 35 years to Gabriel Sigaoat who has worked alongside her in the aviation industry with Lockheed, AGI and ASIG. Aviation runs in her family as her son, Gabriel, Jr. also worked in cargo and into-plane fueling in both Guam and stateside, while her daughter Gabrielle is an aircraft avionics mechanic currently in the U.S. mainland working primarily on Black Hawks, Seahawks and Chinooks military aircraft. Her pride and joy is her nine-year old grandson, Adrian "J", whose simple presence brings her happiness. She enjoys travel and is a fan of C-, J- and K-dramas. She adds that she enjoys all the cultures and landscapes online which sparked her interest in traveling throughout Asia. It is her hope that tourists continue to travel to Guam to enjoy the island, the culture, and the people, and in turn, Guam residents travel to all the destinations in Asia and immerse themselves in all the countries and cultures. She expresses thanks to all the passengers, the airlines and the Guam Airport for supporting tourism which, in turn, supports our residents and our island's economy.

Mildred S. Sigaoat, General Manager of Menzies Aviation Guam, pictured above, third from the left, thanks her management team and staff "for all their hard work, dedication, loyalty, and commitment. Their experience, knowledge and leadership have been a great support throughout my career and they are sincerely appreciated!"

A Look Ahead

GIAA-United Airlines Health, Safety, and Wellness Fair Set for June

Planning has begun for the 2026 GIAA-United Airlines (UA) Health, Safety, and Wellness Fair, scheduled for Wednesday, June 24, 2026 in the East Ticket Lobby of the main terminal building. This highly-popular annual event will bring together local businesses, organizations, and local and federal government agencies who will provide vital information, products, and best safe practices for those who work at the airport and in the surrounding facilities. GIAA and United Airlines welcome interested participants to contact this year's Fair chairperson, Eddie Olkeriil - Chairman - Guam Airport Operations Safety Action Team at UA, at eddie.olkeriil@united.com to find out how to participate as an exhibitor at this event.

A SAFE AND HEALTHY AIRPORT COMMUNITY.

Attendees visit one of many exhibitors of the GIAA-United Airlines Health, Safety, and Wellness Fair held last year at the Guam Airport. Planning has begun for this year's Fair, scheduled for June 24, 2026, which is expected to draw a huge crowd from the airport community.

From the Desk of the Executive Manager

GIAA Executive Manager, John M. Quinata, shares news and updates on important happenings at the Guam Airport:

The terminal flooring project has been extended to June 5, 2026. Floors in the U.S. Customs & Border Protection (USCBP) Hall and in the Baggage Claim Area were replaced as a result of water damage caused by Typhoon Mawar.

The Apron & Taxiway Rehabilitation Project continues with completion of work at Gates 12 and 14 and ongoing work at Spot 1 and Gates 7 and 16. Airline operators are fully aligned with current gate availability with no impact to airline operations.

Planning continues for the Triennial Full-Scale Exercise (FSE) tentatively scheduled for November 2026. Individual committee meetings with islandwide responders will be held to review agency roles and responsibilities as it relates to the FSE, beginning three months to execution of the exercise.

GIAA's Concourse Access Pass (CAP) program is well underway. This program, which has already approved over 300 non-ticketed passengers to gain access on the concourse, runs from 4am to 7pm daily and allows individuals to shop or dine at our retail and food and beverage operations on a three-hour access pass which is subject to approval by the Transportation Security Administration (TSA). CAP access passes are limited per day and are issued on a first-come, first-served basis.

After months of planning and coordinating with regulatory and various stakeholders, GIAA will host to the first-of-its-kind Stratolaunch Operations outside of the U.S. mainland from June 1 - 30, 2026. Stratolaunch is a U.S. mainland firm based out of the Mojave Desert and is a southern California aerospace company in support of joint military exercise, Valiant Shield. The objective is to provide hypersonic flight tests carrying an Unmanned Aircraft System (UAS) Thread and Local Observation Notice (TALON) between the Guam airport and Andersen Air Force Base.

In support of Valiant Shield, GIAA will host four U.S. Navy VRM50 V22 Osprey aircraft assigned to transport personnel, parts, equipment, and mail to and from the U.S. Navy aircraft carrier, George Washington, through June 30, 2026.

Hosts May FOD Walk

Committed to maintaining a safe environment for our passengers and for those who work on and around our airport runways, Jin Air hosted the May FOD Walk on May 19, 2026. Employees from Jin Air, GIAA, and airport tenants volunteered to collect FOD, or Foreign Object Debris, which consist of trash, loose objects or substances on runways, taxiways, or ramps that do not belong in such locations and pose a risk of damaging aircraft or injuring personnel. After a safety briefing, the volunteers - donned with safety vests, closed toe/heel footwear, and gloves - manually scanned the tarmac in search of loose screws, nuts, bolts, mechanics' tools, fragments of broken pavement, pieces of luggage, plastic and other debris that can get sucked into jet engines or damage aircraft tires during takeoff and landing.

ARFF Recognized for Lifesaving Efforts

Four Aircraft Rescue & Fire Fighting (ARFF) fire fighters (FF) and their fire fighter counterparts from the Navy Fire Department and Andersen Fire Department were presented with the Department of Public Health & Social Services (DPHSS) Lifesaving Award on May 21, 2026 as part of Emergency Medical Services Week. FF I Jordan Guevara, FF I Eric Chaco, FF I Janise Quintanilla, and FF II Taron Pitter jumped quickly into lifesaving mode, along with GIAA congratulates four of its Airport Police officers (APO) – APOI Donovan J.C. Villagomez, APO JonLuke C. Bernardo, APO Jose C. Taitingfong III, and APO Kaylie N. Pinaula – Class Commander and the only female of 14 SET IV Cycle Operators – for successfully completing a challenging and grueling eight-week Special Enforcement Tactics (SET) training. These officers, along with those from the Guam Customs & Quarantine Agency (GCQA), the Marshals Division and Probation Services of the Judiciary of Guam, the U.S. Army Reserve, U.S. Air Force, and the Department of Air Force Police, were recognized at an awards ceremony at the Dusit Thani on May 22, 2026. Entry into this rigorous, competitive training required that officers be in the top tier of their respective departments, pass a physical fitness test, and meet strict firearm proficiency scores.

The officers underwent high-level tactical training in Tactical Mindset/Use of Force Continuum; Advance Tactical Firearms & Low Light Techniques (Rifle, Shotgun & Pistol, & Qualifications); Basic & Advanced Close Quarters Battle (CQB); Breaching Techniques (Manual & Shotgun); Close Countermeasure Techniques; Tactical Rappelling; Operation Mission

Highlighting One of Our Own

Kaylie N. Pinaula, SET Class Commander

GIAA is proud to highlight one of its very own - Airport Police Officer Trainee Kaylie Pinaula - who overcame the odds and challenges as one of 14 Special Enforcement Tactics (SET) Operators who recently graduated from the SET Cycle VI on May 22, 2026. As class commander and the only female, Pinaula completed the physically- and mentally- challenging training, proving that anything is possible.

Pinaula, who serves in the Guam Air National Guard, says that this experience allowed her to build skills in discipline, teamwork, and decision making, especially under pressure. She joined SET to improve her tactical skills and prepare herself for her future in law enforcement. As the only female in the program, she opted to train under the men's standards and was motivated to prove that women can succeed in this challenging role.

On May 22, 2024, Pinaula successfully completed the rigorous training and testing mandates established by the Peace Officer Standards and Training, or P.O.S.T., Commission, and legally became a licensed peace officer. Exactly two years to the day of graduating from P.O.S.T., Pinaula graduated from the SET VI Cycle with many rewards and certainly not without any challenges.

She overcame the challenge of meeting the men's standards by working on her physical fitness and maintaining motivation and focus. For Pinaula, her reward was "completing the training and achieving the men's standards." She shares, "It was a great feeling to know that I could hold my own and contribute just as much as anyone else in the cycle." Pinaula encourages other women to pursue their goals in tactical training. "Remember, you can achieve anything you set your mind to, regardless of the challenges. Having a strong support system and staying committed to your training can really help." She adds, "Being a part of SET has shown me that I can overcome challenges and excel in high-pressure situations, which is essential for my future career in law enforcement."
