Security screening lanes will potentially expand from five (5) lanes to seven (7), and each lane will be optimized, to ensure a faster process.

Project fencing and any environmental mitigation required for the hangar are ongoing. With regard to Phase 2 for project construction, 60% of design of the new building has been completed and sent to FAA for review and comment. Bid advertisement is expected in April 2018, with a May 2018 bid opening.

- International Arrivals Corridor with Building Seismic Upgrades: Panels are being installed on Pod 2. Work is being completed on the corridor from Gate 5 to Gate 6, including the extension of the corridor to Gate 8, as well as the structural upgrades to the columns in those areas. GIAA is working closely with the contractor to minimize operational impact.

Sources contradict Sessions’ testimony he opposed Russia outreach

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - U.S. Attorney General Jeff Sessions' testimony that he opposed a proposal for President Donald Trump's 2016 campaign team to meet with Russians has been contradicted by three people who told Reuters they have spoken about the matter to investigators with special counsel Robert Mueller or congressional committees.

Sessions testified before Congress in November 2017 that he “pushed back” against the proposal made by former campaign adviser George Papadopoulos at a March 31, 2016 campaign meeting. Then a senator from Alabama, Sessions chaired the meeting as head of the Trump campaign's foreign policy team.

“Yes, I pushed back,” Sessions told the House Judiciary Committee on Nov. 14, when asked whether he shut down Papadopoulos’ proposed outreach to Russia.

Sessions has since also been interviewed by Mueller.

Three people who attended the March campaign meeting told Reuters they gave their version of events to FBI agents or congressional investigators probing Russian interference in the 2016 election. Although the accounts they provided to Reuters differed in certain respects, all three, who declined to be identified, said Sessions had expressed no objections to Papadopoulos' idea.

One person said Sessions was courteous to Papadopoulos and said something to the effect of “okay, interesting.” The other two recalled a similar response.

“It was almost like, ‘Well, thank you and let’s move on to the next person,’” one said.

However, another meeting attendee, J.D. Gordon, who was the Trump campaign's director of national security, told media outlets including Reuters in November that Sessions strongly opposed Papadopoulos' proposal and said no one should speak of it again. In response to a request for comment, Gordon said on Saturday that he stood by his statement.

Sessions, through Justice Department spokeswoman Sarah Isgur Flores, declined to comment beyond his prior testimony. The special counsel's office also declined to comment. Spokeswomen for the Democrats and Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee did not comment.

Reuters was unable to determine whether Mueller is probing discrepancies in accounts of the March 2016 meeting.

The three accounts, which have not been reported, raise new questions about Sessions’ testimony regarding contacts with Russia during the campaign.

Sessions previously failed to disclose to Congress meetings he had with former Russian Ambassador Sergey Kislyak, and testified in October that he was not aware of any campaign representatives communicating with Russians.

Some Democrats have seized on discrepancies in Sessions' testimony to suggest the attorney general may have committed perjury. A criminal charge would require showing Sessions intended to deceive. Sessions told the House Judiciary Committee that he had always told the truth and testified to the best of his recollection.

Legal experts expressed mixed views about the significance of the contradictions cited by the three sources.

Sessions could argue he misunderstood events or perceived his response in a different way, meaning any contradictions unintentional, some experts said.

Jonathan Turley, a law professor at George Washington University, said Sessions’ words might be too vague to form the basis of a perjury case because there could be different interpretations of what he meant.

“If you’re talking about false statements, prosecutors look for something that is concrete and clear,” he said.

Other legal experts said, however, that repeated misstatements by Sessions could enable prosecutors to build a perjury case against him.

“Proving there was intent to lie is a heavy burden for the prosecution. But now you have multiple places where Sessions has arguably made false statements,” said Bennett Gershman, a Pace University law professor.

45 US trade groups urge Trump to avoid tariffs against China

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - Forty-five U.S. trade associations representing some of the largest companies in the country are urging President Donald Trump not to impose tariffs on China, warning it would be “particularly harmful” to the U.S. economy and consumers.

The letter marks the latest in a growing rift between Trump and the business community on trade policies, as the president has begun to take more aggressive steps he says are needed to protect domestic industry.

“We urge the administration not to impose tariffs and to work with the business community to find an effective, but measured, solution to China’s protectionist trade policies and practices that protects American jobs and competitiveness,” the groups wrote.

“Tariffs would be particularly harmful,” they said.

The groups called on Trump to work with trade allies to push for changes to China’s policies. The business groups said while they had serious concerns about China’s approach to trade, unilateral tariffs by the United States would only separate the country from allies, and encourage them to replace the U.S. business presence in China when Beijing retaliates.

Trade associations publicly pushing back include the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Retail Federation and the Information Technology Industry Council.

The Trump administration is said to be preparing tariffs against Chinese information technology, telecoms and consumer products in an attempt to force changes in Beijing’s intellectual property and investment practices.

AIRLINE ISSUES

T’way Airlines

T’way Airlines will be flying seven (7) additional charters in the month of April as follows:

- 2 KIX/GUM/KIX charters
- 2 ICN/GUM/NGO charters
- 1 ICN/GUM/NRT charter
- 1 ICN/GUM/KIX charter
- 1 ICN/GUM/ICN charter

This is in addition to their daily flights serving ICN/GUM and KIX/GUM flights.

JAPAN AIRLINES

JAL begins their second GUM-NRT flight this Saturday, March 25\textsuperscript{th}. The current annual seat capacity is 382,200 for that route. The second daily JAL flight will result in an additional 53,088 seats with the 767-A41 (seat capacity 237) aircraft.

AIR SERVICE DEVELOPMENT

ROUTES ASIA

Our GIAA delegation just concluded a meeting with airline network planners at the Annual Routes Asia Forum scheduled for March 18-20, 2018 in Brisbane. Welcome home, to Vice Chair Sgrowho attended along with our Marketing Administrator. Notable airline meetings took place with Shandong Airlines Beijing Capital Airlines, Spring Airlines, China Southern Airlines, Vanilla Airlines, Hawaiian Airlines, Juneyao Airlines, Jetstar Group, Air Nauru, Hong Kong Airlines, Virgin Australia Airlines, Shandong Airlines and Shenzen Airlines. We also met with our current airline partners, Japan Airlines, China Airlines Group, Philippine Airlines, Cebu Pacific and reconnected with HK Express.

REGULATORY ISSUES

GIAA Meeting with TSA

On March 14, 2018, Airport management met with the top TSA officials from Washington, D.C. along with the Federal Security Director for Hawaii, Jorge Guerrero, FSD Guam and the Assistant FSD for the CNMI. It was noted that Guam was doing very well in terms of security. The officials shed some insight on possible technological security developments in the near future. We took the opportunity to brief them on our 3\textsuperscript{rd} floor International Arrivals Corridor that will solve the decades old issue of co-mingling and the dividers in our concourse. We also discussed the expansion plans we have for the security-screening checkpoint.

FINANCIAL ISSUES

FY2017 Financial Audit

The Airport Authority’s 2017 Financial Audit performed independent auditors, Ernst & Young, gave GIAA a “clean” opinion on its compliance report for FY 2017 financial statements and major federal programs. There were no questioned costs or unresolved prior year audit findings. The Office of Public Accountability (OPA) highlighted in its report that GIAA should be commended for achieving low risk auditee status for the third year in a row. Operating Revenues increased by $5.4M, due largely to miscellaneous revenues and facilities and system use charges. Rental income increased by 5.4% in FY2017 from FY2016, and Car Rental Income increased by 17.29%, in line with the increased enplanements and larger number of Free Independent Travellers (FIT), the profile of most passengers flying on Low Cost Carriers, who are not part of group travel, which was the historic make-up of our visitor profile in years past. Summarily, the Airport closed FY2017 with an increase in net position of $8.9M from $8.3M in FY2016.

USCBP Reimbursable Services Program (RSP)

The USCBP’s RSP 2017 Annual Report indicates that since our inception of the program, GIAA passenger wait times for processing under 1-hour has increased by 6% from 2016 to 2017, so more passengers have shorter processing times. The average wait time has fallen -14% from 28min in 2016 to 24min in 2017. GIAA investment in the RSP for 2017 was $305,005.

Moody’s Rating Update

On March 14, 2018, Moody’s Investors Service affirmed the Baa2 rating on our senior General Revenue Bonds and changed the rating outlook from stable to negative. This rating action follows Moody’s recent outlook change to negative on the Ba1 Issuer Rating for the Government of Guam on the previous day. The change in rating outlook reflects Moody’s assessment of the linkage between the Airport Authority and local economic conditions in Guam. As a result of the federal tax reform, the Government of Guam faces an estimated $67 million decrease in general fund revenue for fiscal year 2018. While the airport operates fairly independently from the government, Moody’s expects that the authority wouldn’t be able to disconnect itself from any material financial stress at the government level having a negative impact on local economic conditions and the tourism sector in the next 12 to 18 months.

PROCUREMENT ISSUES

RFPs

Timekeeping & Attendance System

To Be Announced: March 2018

ANNOUNCEMENTS

- March is Chamorro Month – Biba Mes Chamorro! We have been hosting merienda every Friday of the month to include tomorrow. In honor of Holy Week next week, we will not have anything on the last Friday of the month, which is Good Friday. On Thursday, April 5th, we will culminate our Chamorro Month celebrations with our annual fiesta.
GIAA Management presented at the Guam Industry Forum 2018 as part of the “Ports of Entry and Logistics” panel along with the Port Authority of Guam and the Guam Customs & Quarantine Agency looking at our port and logistics as the key component of the successful execution of build-up projects on the island. The 3-day forum held at the Dusit Thani Guam Resort was on March 7-9, 2018 with GIAA presentations on Day 2. Approximately 500 delegates participated in the forum, sponsored by the Guam Society of American Military Engineers (SAME) which focused on the estimated billion dollars worth of military build-up work in design, construction and other service investments triggered by the $300M+ in military contracts awarded last year.

United Airlines will have their annual visits to Iwo Jima with WWII veterans of that battle with two flights on Saturday, March 24, 2018. Upon their return from Iwo Jima, a contingent of the Guam HOGs, a Harley motorcycle club, will meet them here at the airport and escort the buses carrying the veterans, down to their Tumon hotels.

GIAA, along with GVB, will support the welcome the second daily GUM-NRT flight operated by JAL on its inaugural date of Sunday, March 25, 2018. Over 190 passengers and crew will be treated to goodie bags and cultural entertainment and lei greeting upon arrival.

Our Operations Division will be conducting mandatory FAR Part 139 Training from March 26-30, 2018. The training is required for our airport to remain in full compliance with our airport certification. The training will cover the following:

- Airport Emergency Plan (AEP)
- ARFF Training Requirements & Record Keeping, Apparatus Information & Awareness, Personnel Record Keeping, Vehicle Presentation & Demonstration
- Airport Certification Manual (ACM)
- Self Inspection Program (includes Markings, Signs, Lighting, Safety Areas, & South Ramp Markings
- AOA Safety & Drivers Directive Program, Incidents, Accidents, Special Inspection Reporting and Record Keeping
- Fuel Farm/Mobile Inspection and Fuel Personnel Training Requirements and Record Keeping; Chronological and Incident Reports
- Notice to Airmen (NOTAM) Procedures and Record Keeping; Airfield Construction Safety Awareness and Record Keeping
- Emergency Coordination Center (ECC) Function and Typhoon Preparation
- USDA Wildlife Program, Awareness, Reporting and Documenting Wildlife Strikes

Diligent training and awareness on all these issues are a part of our critical achievement of “0” discrepancies during our FAA certification inspections. We expect another excellent grade at our next inspection and our strong training programs will help us achieve that.
